HUERTA FEAST DAY IS FAILURE; ANTI-AMERICAN FEELING BARRED

Government Keeps Pledge to Suppress Agitators During Demonstration in the Capital.

AMERICANS IN CROWDS
KEEP IN BACKGROUND

The Washington Herald's Correspondent Arrested.
Bryan Orders He Must Be Given Protection.

By N. A. JENNINGS.
Mexico City, Aug. 10.—The Huerta demonstration, which had been awaited with great fear by the foreign residents of the Mexican capital, took place today without any untoward incident occurring to justify the gloomy predictions that had been made.

The Mexican government kept its pledge that the occasion should not be taken by agitators to encourage the anti-American feeling here. The belief among the government's supporters here tonight is that Gen. Huerta has been rebuffed by the Mexican populace of the better class, for the demonstration failed to develop the enthusiasm that had been promised by the provisional President's friends.

As a manifestation of confidence in the administration, the "Viva" that marked the triumphal entry of Francisco I. Madero after he had crushed Porfirio Diaz were completely lacking.

Leaders Were Warned.
During the entire parade there was no evidence of anti-American feeling. It is believed that the leaders were warned that the relations between this country and the United States were too unsettled to permit any outbreak at the present time. Dismissals of the late last night from Washington announcing that Envoy Lind had received no definite instructions except to leave the country.

As one man, describing today's parade, aptly put it: "If it had not been for the music the whole affair would have been taken for a funeral procession."

The only unusual thing connected with the demonstration was the marchers were not guarded by policemen. This is believed to be the first time in Mexican history that such precaution has been lacking.

Americans were sprinkled among the spectators, but not making themselves conspicuous in seeking the best places of vantage, as they had often done in the past.

LIND IS NOW SAFE IN MEXICO CITY, BRYAN ORDERED AFTER LONG WAIT

Special Envoy and His Wife
Reach Capital from Vera
Cruz and Stop at Hotel
Near American Embassy.

FAILURE TO RECOGNIZE MEANS LACK OF FUNDS

President Believes that Without Assistance of United States Present Government
Cannot Negotiate Loans.

At 1:30 o'clock this morning Secretary of State Bryan announced that Special Envoy Lind and Mrs. Lind had arrived safely in Mexico City and that they had gone to a hotel close to the American Embassy.

Secretary Bryan's all-night vigil awaiting news of the safe arrival of Special Envoy Lind at Mexico City was also kept by scores of newspaper correspondents.

The Secretary early looked himself in a room at the State Department and denied himself to callers. A corporal's guard of newspapermen was left on watch in the State Department telegraph room. The Secretary insisted that there was no cause for alarm over the delay in reporting Lind's arrival, but announced that he would stay at the telegraph key until word from Mexico was received.

There was a distinct clearing of the atmosphere in Washington yesterday, as regards the personal safety of John Lind, the President's special envoy to Mexico, but no developments that indicated any satisfactory progress toward the realization of the Wilson administration's hope for a peaceful settlement of the differences in the Southern republic.

The statement of the Huerta government, asserting the United States that everything possible would be done to insure the freedom from annoyance has greatly relieved the four which all administration officials had entertained that the President's personal representative might come to bodily harm on his mission.

Attitude Remains Unchanged.
While the understanding with the Huerta government on this point is now on a more satisfactory basis, absolutely no encouragement has been held out that the present government in Mexico will change its attitude in regard to any proposals which this government may make for mediation. When it comes to a matter of interference by the United States with the internal affairs of Mexico, President Huerta's stand seems to be absolutely uncompromising and unalterable.

While President Wilson, in his last year in office, had been a strong supporter of the Huerta government, he has since the notification of the Huerta government that the United States is not able to extend recognition of that government.

MAJORITY HOLDS CAUCUS TODAY

House Democrats Meet to Discuss Pending Currency Bill.

Administration Expected to Secure
Easy Victory on Indorsement of Committee Measure.

The Democratic leaders plan to begin debate on the administration banking and currency bill in the House the latter part of this or early in the coming week.

The measure today will be taken up in the party caucus and present indications are that it will be ratified in three or four days.

At the session today the insurgents will make an effort to have the caucus opened to the press. The leadership is opposed to such procedure, and the publicity resolution probably will be defeated.

The administration bill probably will be ratified by the caucus precisely in the form that it emerged from the conference of the Democrats of the House Committee on Banking and Currency.

The insurgents, led by Representative Henry of Texas, will offer a number of amendments, notably one authorizing the issuance of currency on corn, wheat, and cotton, and another taken from the Pulo Money Trust report aimed at interlocking the currency with the gold standard.

ANTIS TAKE ON ANOTHER NAME

Those Opposed to Suffrage Take Subtitle "The Conservationists."

Organization Explains Its Ideas for the Elevation and Betterment of Womanhood.

Taking the ground that it has become necessary for some organization to rescue women from the evil effects of the woman suffrage doctrine, the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage came out yesterday with the flag statement that the organization shall be known by the subtitle of "The Conservationists."

The new "Conservationists" outline their platform as having nothing to do with the conservation of forests, water power, and other sources of wealth. These "Conservationists" describe their mission as being an attempt to conserve the home, motherhood, and womanhood.

"There is something wrong with the condition of women today. There is no question about that. Suffragists and anti-suffragists agree on that point, their only difference being the means by which the condition of women could be bettered and the condition of mankind improved through the influence of the women. Suffragists think that it can be done through the ballot box. Anti-suffragists think that it can be done better without the franchise."

"We think that putting woman into politics and forcing her to do men's work as well as her own is a terrible waste. It has not been proved in any State where woman votes that she has accomplished anything of value in non-suffrage States."

"What the woman of today needs is education, in order to make full use of the opportunities which modern times have given her. We have cities where suffragists believe in woman having the fullest opportunity for her individual development for the good of humanity and of the State, but this development should be used for others, and not solely for herself. We aim to develop the woman so that she may make a better home by becoming the best kind of a wife in the fullest sense of that word—a companion, giving her full share in the partnership and so that she may become a better mother. If she is so fortunate as to be one."

RECORD REVENUE RECEIPTS GAINED

Commissioner's Report Shows
Increased Collections
During Last Year.

Cigarettes Outstrip Cigars—District
Pays $913,104.23 into Treasury.

Collections of Uncle Sam's internal revenue from all sources for the fiscal year 1912-13 totals $344,624,625, exceeding all predecessors, and even excepting the years of the Spanish war, when by reason of the special war imposts, there was a tremendous acceleration of the collection of Federal funds.

The gain in internal revenues, including the corporation tax for 1912-13 over 1911-12 was $2,865,520.16. The collections for the fiscal year just ended even exceed the record-breaking 1910-11. The excess over that year was $2,586,154.12.

Details of Collections.
The following is the statement of internal revenue receipts, made public by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo through the report of W. H. Osborn, Commissioner of Internal Revenue:

NEW EMERGENCY HOSPITAL PLANS BEING PREPARED

Architects Working Out Details of Magnificent Structure.

FUND SHOWS INCREASE
Campaign Soon Will Be Renewed.
Amount Now Totals
$200,000.

Final arrangements for the erection of a new Emergency Hospital are to be decided upon by the board of directors of the institution early this fall.

Tentative plans for the magnificent $200,000 structure already have been prepared, and details now are being worked out by architects. Persons interested in the project busily are engaged collecting contributions toward the building fund.

Approximately $200,000 has been raised so far, and every day additional subscriptions are flowing into the headquarters of the campaign fund in the Corcoran Building, Fifteenth and F Streets Northwest. Announcement has just been made that during the past few weeks $746 has been collected, despite the fact that many are out of the city on their summer vacations.

Another Crusade Coming.
The bulk of the $200,000 was raised during the twelve-day campaign held last May. Another vigorous crusade for money will be started this fall, and it is expected that no difficulty will be encountered in raising the remaining amount. Contributions of all sizes are being received.

The land on which the present Emergency Hospital is situated has been condemned by the government, and as buildings in this acquired territory south of Pennsylvania Avenue are to be torn down, it is imperative that a new structure for the institution be erected immediately. The new hospital will be located on the north side of New York Avenue, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth Streets Northwest, opposite the Corcoran Gallery of Art. According to the preliminary plans already prepared, it will be an eight-story, neoclassical structure, constructed of brick, with terra cotta trimmings. Accommodations will be made for 125 or 130 beds, 40 of them being for private patients. The total length of the building will be 100 feet, the depth will be 107 feet, and the height above the sidewalk 110 feet.

A space of ten feet will be on the east side of the lot, and one of sufficient foot on the west side thus providing an unobstructed circulation of air around the entire building. The front of the structure will be set back thirty feet from the building line. On the ground floor this space will be occupied in part by two one-story pavilions, which will extend from the main building to a point four feet beyond the building line, leaving a good-sized entrance court between them.

The main entrance of the building will be on the north side.

Collapsed.

New York, Aug. 10.—Six States suffered under the devastating sweep of a terrific windstorm late this afternoon. The gale followed a rise in temperature that left hundreds prostrated in the East before the air was cooled by the wind and accompanying rain.

Heavy damage was caused in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, and Rhode Island. Fourteen persons are dead and a score injured in the vicinity of New York. The dead:

PETER KELLY, of Port Chester, struck by lightning.

Mrs. Patricia Marchewka fell from a rooftop at Caticelli and was drowned.
Before the gale struck New York, the temperature in the street registered 105, though the Weather Bureau thermometer high in the White Hall Building registered only 75.

Came Without Warning.
The storm that broke the heat wave came without warning. The crowd that swarmed to the beaches seeking relief was the largest ever seen there, being estimated at 70,000, and thousands were drenched by the rain or imperiled by the lightning playing about them before they could reach places of safety.
